

REMARKS

Claims 13-18 were pending and under consideration, claims 1-12 having been cancelled previously.

In the Final Office Action of February 17, 2009, claims 13-18 were rejected. Claims 13 and 15 were rejected as anticipated by Russell (USP 6391400). Claim 14 was rejected as obvious in view of Russell and Hamagishi (USP 5751479). Claims 16 and 18 were rejected as obvious in view of Russell and Arfsten (USP 4568578). Claim 17 was rejected as obvious in view of Russell, Arfsten and Hamagishi.

In addition, improper dependencies in claims 14 and 15 were noted.

In response, the claims have been amended to refer to a display screen throughout, the dependencies of claims 14 and 15 have been corrected, and redundant language in claim 13 has been removed. The rejections are traversed for at least the reasons that follow.

The present claims are directed to display screens and the manufacture thereof. The display screens include a film that is highly reflective with respect to light in a specific wavelength region including one of the wavelength regions of red, green and blue light. The film is otherwise transmissive with respect to visible light other than the specific light region.

In contrast, Russell is concerned with blocking infrared light, which is well known to be related to heat). Russell is not concerned with blocking, nor does the disclosed Russell structure, block red, green or blue light.

As such, Russell is inapposite to the present invention, and in any event, does not meet the requirements of the present claims as alleged in the office action.

It is submitted that Russell is not properly applied against the present claims and thus the rejections should not stand. Withdrawal of the rejections is requested.

Accordingly, claims 13-18 are patentable over the cited art and the application is in condition for allowance. Notice to that effect is requested.

Respectfully submitted,

Dated: April 17, 2009
